SCORPION CVR(T)

An insight into the design, construction and operation of the Scorpion FV101 family of lightweight armoured fighting vehicles

by Simon Dunstan

The CVR(T) - Combat Vehicle Reconnaissance (Tracked) family of reconnaissance vehicles has been highly successful since its introduction by the British Army in 1972 and it has seen extensive combat from the Falklands War to Afghanistan. Its variants include the lead vehicle, Scorpion, armed with a 76mm gun and the 30mm-armed Scimitar that were both employed in the reconnaissance role with Spartan as an APC.

Simon Dunstan tells the story of CVR(T)'s development, its anatomy, combat record and how it is operated and maintained by the armies of 16 nations worldwide.

SIEGE WARFARE

From ancient times to the beginning of the gunpowder age

by Dr Chris McNab

This book explains the tactics and technologies of siege warfare for both attackers and defenders, from ancient times to the beginning of the gunpowder age. Mighty siege engines – including torsion artillery, trebuchets, battering rams and siege towers – are closely examined and illustrated in fine detail.

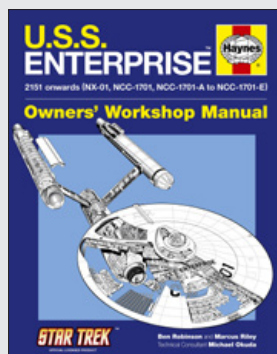

The book discusses in depth the complexities of underground and overground assault, specifically escalade, undermining and sapping techniques, and what happened after a besieging army forced a breach. It also investigates the formalities and deceptions of non-force options – the subtle arts of negotiation, spying and infiltration.
